TREVELLICK'S TALK

The adherents of the National Gre ick party were called together at the tered over the city announcing that "Hon. Richard Trevellick, of Michigan," would discuss the fusion question, and other topics of absorbing interest at this time, from the standpoint of a Greenbacker. By 8 o'clock the Court House was pretty well filled with persons of all parties, the maority having been attracted by curiosity to hear the speaker's remarks on fusion A brass band lent its aid to swell the rowd. Walter Marshall was chosen chairman and made a ringing little speech, highly eulogizing Trevellick, whom he introduced as "a man known and honored al over this broad land for his noble efforts on behalf of the laboring classes, and as a champion of that system of currency which in the hour of danger was applauded to the very skies by the same nen who would now degrade it under foot." His remarks were received with some applause, in the midst of which the some applause, in the midst of which the man from Michigan made his bow.

Mr. Trevellick commenced by acknowledging the flattering eulogy from the chairman, "A gentleman to whom until to-day I was a stranger except in name." He had come to occupy a few hours in discussing the relation of this government to the people and of the people to the government. Upon arriving in Wheeling this morning he had notted his coming announced, under the heading "Fusion or no Fusion!" He had not been aware that fusion was to enter at all into the discussion to-night. It was a matter per that inson was called a matter per-cussion to-night. It was a matter per-taining alone to State politics and so of in-terest alone to citizens of the State. It was fit therefore that it should be dis-cussed by citizens of the State, and not by one who is not acquainted with the merits or lack of merits of local issues. This pro-voked some stamping of feet, and with this the speaker dismissed the subject, to the apparent disappointment of his hear-He next touched upon the subject of

He next touched upon the subject of national pride, announcing as a discovery of his own that all natives of the United States were proud of the land of their birth. He himself had cast his youthful lot upon the sa, "had-circumnavigated the belted globe on which we live four times before he reached his twenty-ninth year," and if asked what nation of his personal acquaintance was best fitted for the growth of freedom and civilization he would say the United States. He had visited England, Scotland, Ireland, France, Italy, and yet had never seen fairer mountains, greater rivers or grander people, than in America, and he went on to exalt America, in glowing periods which provoked frequent applause.

This being the kind of country we live in, nature having so bountifully gifted the people here, it could not be that nature was to blame for the peculiar misfortunes and unhappiness the citizens of America were called upon to bear. These were to blame upon one of two things; ignorance or dishonesty on the part of our rulers.

or dishonesty on the part of our ruler An instance of the effects of this lack knowledge or integrity, or both, was found in the condition of our commerce Nineteen-twentieths of the product this country shipped abroad were carrie in foreign ships; yet several years ago thousands of men were kept in enforced idleness when the bnilding of one ship would have given employment for 165,000 days to an American workingman and paid out for labor and material $500,000. He hoped the representatives of the press would resentatives of the press would just as he said it, for if they did get this just as he said it, for if they did not get it now they would never get it from a Republican or Democrat. Neither of these parties knew it, or if they did they would not say it. He wanted to know why it would not have been better to have built our own ships and carried our own products, and no one rising to reply, he concluded no reply was possible. He went on to reply to the suppositious argument that Americans could not build ships because they had to compete with the pauper labor of Europe. He showed to his own entire satisfaction that this was false.

Later in his remarks Mr. Trevellick deprecated the large export business that has grown up in this country. He thought the proper market for American people. We do not need ships to transport our products to other countries. Those countries which export the most are always poorest. An illustration of this can be found in Ireland, which exports more in proportion than any other country under the sun. The inconsistency of this position with his former remarks about our shipping escaped the attention of both speaker and audience.

He took up the argument that the panic and all its accompanying evils grew out of an over production, and ridiculed the idea. It was an over production of political fools if of anything, that was to blame, and one who heard the frequent -City Book Store, applause with which these remarks were greeted was almost convinced of the truth THERMOMETER RECORD.—The following "over production of products," he mainshows the range of the thermometer, as observed at Schnepf's drug store, Opers House corner yesterday:

to distract attention from the foolish relegislation.

Some people woold say of the panic, "Mr. Trevellick" (the speaker seemed fond of using his own name in his remarks), "it is Providence pouring out the vials of his wrath upon a perverse generation," and Mr. Trevellick's response to this was elegant and forcible: "Get out! you lunatics, get out!"

The tenor of his remarks were about the same throughout. He desounced the is specie system as "false in theory and ruinous in practice—a robbery of the toiling millions." He drew illustrations from history to show that nations were always prosperous with a paper currency, and distressed with a specie circulation.

"The papers," he said, "will say tomorrow, 'Mr. Trevellick, you are a demagogue." In this Mr. Trevellick was about right.

material to select from, it will be quite a hard task for them to draw the line, while on the other hand they can all unite in harmony to buy their summer clothing at the Star Clothing House and make their headquarters with Gundling, who will selt them astonishing Bargains. Saw Mill. Bunner.—Early yesterday morning the steam saw mill of Capt. W. A. McCoy, which was located near Triadelphia, was discovered to be on fire, and before anything could be done the mill was entirely destroyed. It was a new mill, and valuable. The origin of the fire is supposed to have been from a spark that had lodged in the sawdust and had been smothering for some hours. The loss is about $1,700-$700 on the mill and $1,000 on a quantity of wainut lumber that was burned, upon which there was no insurance.

conversation with an interlectuate terporter vesterday, Col. John W. Mason, of Grafton, made a proposition which promised to become popular. It is that the convention to-day, "after instructing for Blaine, as it possibly will do," also instruct the West Virginia delegates to Chicago to cast their vote for Gen. Nathan Goff, Jr., for Vice President. Of course such a vote could only be complimentary, but Col. Mason though that it would be a graceful thing to do, and nothing more than a deserved compliment to one of the leading Republicans of the State. The InTELLICENCER man sought the opinions of other prominent delegates, and found a surprising unanimity among them in favor of the plan. Aside from the compliment to Gen. Goff, it was suggested by several delegates that the casting of West Virginia's vote for him in the National Convention would bring him into prominence among the representative Republicans of the land, and thus give him a certain influence which might be availed of to severe able men from abroad to assist tain influence which might be availed o to secure able men from abroad to assis in the canvass in this State. Some per ons even suggested that it was not too ate to start a "boom" of fair proportions enough earnest. He has many qualifica-tions which eminently fit him for the posiion, and the party might do much wors than to choose him as its second standard pearer.

D. H. Willard, of Point Pleasant, thought the idea a particularly brilliant one. His county, Mason, was the only one in the Third district which gave Gen. Goff a majority for Governor, and they are still in favor of him, Mr. Willard says for any position he will accept.

Goff a majority for Governor, and they are still in favor of him, Mr. Willard says, for any position he will accept.

Mr. Huling, from Kanawha county, could not endorse Mr. Willard's position too strongly. He was in favor of Goff for anything. He would like to see him a U. S. Senator, Governor, or Vice-President.

Mr. Cracraft, of Charleston, editor of the Leader, had thought of the matter before. He believed if a man with power and force enough to make the Chicago Convention listen to him would get up, portray the situation of affairs in West Virginia and tell something of her past history, tell who Goff is and what he has done, he might induce the convention to nominate him, and he had no doubt that if that were done the State could be carried for the Republican ticket.

In the words of a delegate: "It will do to think over. The Republicans to-day could not so honer both themselves and one of their brethren in any other way as by sending a delegation to Chicago which will be solid for the gallant Goff for Vice President on the first ballot."

Interesting Account of the Healing of a Birotken Leg.

Messrs. Lovingors & Pinkhan, Druggista: Deur Sirs-On the 23d of August, 1877, I had the mi-formation of having my leg you. In front of William thrown on me. The bone was set by a goving the left in the place. Upon removing the spilint, acres broke out from my knee to the heel, and several physicians called it various events, and ordered me to wear rubber stockings. After wearing out about $25 worth of different makes without any signs of any cure, I bought the Curicua Remeniss for the purpose, as I express edit at the time, to be humburged again. Before half had been used I was attonished to see the screen beauty one by one, and now not mesore is to be seen. I recommended the same to a neighboring lasty whe had been troubled for years with a sore weight one of. Respectfully yours.

Dover, N. H. HENRY LANDECKER.

SALT RHEUM Ten Years. Treated by Ten Physicians. Used all kinds of Medicines.

Messrs. Weeks & Potyers, Deer Sirs:—I feel it any duty to inform, you of what your Cuticuma Beam united have does for me. I have suffered from Salt flowing for in years, been treated by at least ten physicians, and taken any quantity of medicine without mure ut ill 100x your remode, which have been perfectly successful is my case, leaving the skin or my face, scalp and body as white and free from his mor as anybody's. Yours truly, CTEPTER H. LOYEJOY.
